PROF. DR. AHMED EL TASSI

Fellow of The Inter-American Institute, VA, USA

Prof. Dr. Ahmed El Tassi, MD, is one of the world's leading researchers in Chinese philosophy and Chinese medicine. He had lived in Beijing, China, for the past 21 years (1991-2012). Dr. El Tassi is the first Westerner to hold a Master's Degree in Chinese Philosophy from the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS). He was formerly trained in medicine, homeopathy, acupuncture, naturopathy, psycho-pedagogy, and anthropology in Argentina, Brazil, Canada, England, France, Italy, Hong Kong, and Netherlands. For twenty-three years, Dr. El Tassi has been a practicing medical doctor, specializing in the psychosomatic approach towards difficult medical cases. After 10 years of research at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS), and despite its rampant atheism, he successfully defended his thesis about the intrinsic relationship between human body, soul, and spirit, which allowed him to become the first non-Chinese scholar to be granted the title of Professor of Chinese Philosophy by that institution.

Dr. El Tassi has authored a few monographs and articles on Chinese Medicine and Chinese Philosophy. Among his scholarly works are The Clinical Importance of the "body-soul-spirit" life model in Yellow Emperor's Internal Classic, a strong argument and method to shift the present healthcare paradigm towards a realistic medical approach of the human being, and the Promising Prospects of Chinese Medical Semiology on Forensic Genetics, a warning and a solution to prevent recent discoveries in genetics from becoming a sort of an accepted mass control tool for a possible universal genetic profiling agenda. Dr. El Tassi also co-authored the first Chinese-Portuguese Glossary of Usual Terms, 2002, China Foreign Language Press, Beijing.

Dr. Judith Resiman
